RELIEF WORKER DROWNS IN CONNELLY LAKE

William Frank, a relief worker in the Bellevue East camp, met death suddenly on Saturday afternoon, when he dived in about five feet of water in what is known as Connelly Lake, about a mile northwest of Bellevue.

The body was recovered and taken to the undertaking parlor at Blairmore. Following investigation, it was found that an inquest was not necessary, and the remains were laid to rest in Bellevue cemetery on Friday afternoon.

Frank was a native of Shebo, Saskatchewan, where his mother survives him.

LETH. EXPERIMENTAL FARM ANNUAL FIELD DAY

The annual field day and basket picnic at the Lethbridge experimental farm will be held on Saturday, August 4th. Every effort is being made to ensure an interesting as well as enjoyable day, and a cordial invitation is extended to farmers, their families and all others interested to attend.

The programme is set to start at 10 a.m., with organized tours of the plot work under way at the station, and all who can be urged to come early and bring lunch. Coffee will be served at noon, and again in the evening. Milk will be supplied for the children.

The Hon. F. S. Girdale, newly appointed minister of agriculture for Alberta, will speak, as will also L. H. Newman, Dominion cerealist from Ottawa. Following the addresses, there will be a livestock parade.

BLAIRMORE PUBLIC LIBRARY

During the months of July and August the library will be open on Thursday nights only, each week. Hours 7 to 9 p.m.

The Railway Y.M.C.A. at Cranbrook is being taken over by the Department of National Defence.

CAUSEY-SHIELD MARRIAGE

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday, July 12th, at Trail, when Rev. G. E. Mottis united in marriage Grace Elizabeth, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shield, of Needles, B.C., and Jack Causey, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Causey, of Natal.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of pale pink chiffon, with ruffled skirt and cape and large picture hat of white silk crepe and matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink and white rose buds and fern.

Miss Janet Shield, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and had chosen a long gown of apple green crepe, featuring a white organdy yoke with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas and baby's breath. Mr. Harvey Weber, of Trail, attended the groom.

Following the ceremony, the guests assembled at the Crown Point dining room, where a dainty wedding supper was served.

The happy couple will make their home in Trail.

MARKETING CONFERENCE

Arrangements are being completed for the marketing conference and co-operative institute to be held at Olds school of agriculture, July 24, 25 and 26, under arrangement with the surplus wheat board trust fund. It is expected that such eminent authorities as Hon. H. B. Stevens, federal minister of trade and commerce; Dr. J. E. Booth, commissioner agricultural economies, Ottawa; John L. McFarland, Canadian wheat pool, and others, will be present to discuss problems, as well as representatives of the various co-operative interests in the province. Hon. F. S. Girdale, minister of agriculture, will preside.

FURTHER HIGHWAY CONTRACTS

The third group of contracts for main highway gravelling was to be awarded by the provincial public works department on July 18. These contracts will cover re-gravelling and second course work on the Cardston-Lethbridge highway; and from Monarch to Pincher Creek, Camrose to Bowlin, Edmonton to Toleda, on the Edmonton-Lloydminster highway near Fort Saskatchewan, on the Edmonton-Morinville highway, and on the Jasper highway from Stony Plain to Sela. Progress is being made on the gravelling contracts awarded some time ago in various sections of the province.

INFRACTIONS OF GAME LAWS

Infraction of the game laws of the province by the shooting of wild duck out of season has drawn penalties in two cases recently tried at Onoway, where offenders were caught shooting duck at Lac Ste. Anne. The cases were tried before W. C. Turnbull, J.P., of Onoway. John Kime, of Lac Ste. Anne, was fined $25 and costs, and his gun confiscated, while Patrick Letendre, a half-breed, who claimed he was still under the impression that he could shoot under the half-breed permits which are no longer in effect, was fined $10 and costs, and his gun confiscated. The game branch of the provincial government is prosecuting in every possible case of such infraction.

The Drumheller Review remarks: Thank God for small mercies. Vivian is being relegated to the ranks of forgotten flappers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Comfort, of Creston, were visitors over the week end with their son, Ithamar Comfort, here. After 35 years of continuous residence in Western Canada, twenty of which were spent in Blairmore, and the past ten in Creston, Mr. and Mrs. Comfort are travelling by auto to visit relatives at Grimsby, Ontario.

CASTLE RIVER CLUB STAMPEDE ATTRACTS CROWDS

Fully five thousand persons, including some four hundred Indians from the Peigan and Blood reserves, attended the annual stampede and field day staged by the Castle River Club at their natural stadium near the west Castle River bridge on Wednesday. The natural bleachers, packed with people, with a background of close on five hundred cars, presented a real opportunity for the camera man, and gave everyone all the opportunity desired to witness the many interesting events, which included wild steer and bucking horse riding, calf roping, wild-cow milking, foot races, etc., all of which were keenly contested.

Refreshment booths on the grounds (many of them) were well patronized, and some Scotch folks boasted they had purchased the largest sandwiches and ice creams they had ever seen. One guy even secured from Jack Gola a double-barrelled hot dog.

The new dancing pavilion was opened late in the evening, and was kept going till near daylight on Thursday. The pavilion was ideally located in a bush between the stampede grounds and the river.

West of the bridge, the large flat presented a typical tent town, all well arranged and occupied by the Indians. In every respect, financially and otherwise, the day proved a success. The committee in charge desire to thank all others who in any way assisted. Particularly would they thank the Westernman, who looked as favorably upon the event as though it were his own.

List of prize winners will be announced in our next issue.

CHANGES ON THE PRAIRIE

A dramatic illustration of the change which has come over prairie transportation in the last fifty or sixty years is afforded by the handiwork of Mr. Francis Richard, who was born near Selkirk, Manitoba, in 1864. Mr. Richard has just completed the building of an old-fashioned Red River cart, made entirely by hand from hush timber. It contains not one nail or screw and no metal whatever. In this respect, it runs true to its type, for the old Red River cart, before the coming of the wagon, and later, the railway, was the vehicle used for transportation throughout the vast area from Red River to the Rocky Mountains, was the product of a strictly self-contained country. The change which has occurred within the memory of settlers still living has been almost incredible. The winding prairie trails have given place to straight graded highways; Manitoba alone has over 3,600 miles of all-weather roads and a quarter of a million licensed automobiles find highways penetrating into every corner of what was so recently "the great lone land".

Fred V. Stone, of Alix, native Alberman and honor graduate of McGill University in economics and political science, has been appointed secretary to Premier R. G. Reid. Mr. Stone has for two years been engaged in research work in Alberta for the McGill social science department. He won a name for himself as a university debater, and last year received his degree of master of arts from McGill.

A man in Georgia raises fishing worms on a commercial basis. More-over he advertises the fact in the following modern verbiage: "Fish Bait! New 1934 models. Fat, juicy, tough oozy-woozy worms, just in time for after-Easter fishing. Streamlines with blunt, rounded heads, gradually tapering off to fine-pointed tails; least water resistance. Raised in sandy loam on wire-grass roots; irrefragable flavor to the most fastidious perch or cat."

'FRISCO PRESS BLAMES REDS FOR WALKOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Leading newspapers of San Francisco Bay cities were unanimous today in predicting a general strike could not be won, and blaming its inception on Communistic elements.

They said the issue in the general strike was clear cut. It is a battle of the Communists, by the medium of organized labor and for the destruction of constituted government. They could not win a general strike, even if they knew what they were striking for. No community—least of all San Francisco—is going to let itself be defeated by a general strike captained by Communists.

There rests today on labor unionism a chance to rid its ranks of the stamp of Communism and radicalism to maintain its reputation for integrity. A general strike has never been won, they claim.

MAKING CARS AT WORLD'S FAIR

More interest than ever is being shown by the public in the assembling of Chevrolet passenger cars at Chicago World's Fair. During the first month of this year's operation, production totalled 468 units and by actual count 646,800 people watched the workmen as they built cars. This was an increase over the first thirty days of last year's Fair, and sales of cars to Fair visitors were materially higher than last year also, it was reported.

Miss Marjorie McDonald, of the Pincher Creek telephone staff, is spending a holiday at her home here.

Misses Aileen and Florence Picard, accompanied by Misses E. Turner, Mary Edmunds and D. Tugart, of Windermere, motored to Blairmore, and were guests at the home of the formers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Picard, returning west yesterday.

Appeal against the judgment of Mr. Justice W. C. Ives overruling the jury verdict in the McMillan-Brownlee case will be commenced as soon as judgment is formally entered, according to Neil D. Maclean, K.C., counsel for Vivian MacMillan and her father, A. D. McMillan, of Edson, in their seduction suit against ex-Premier J. E. Brownlee.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES

Rev. A. S. Partington, B.A., Rector
Services Sunday, July 22nd:
Evening song at 7:30 in the church.
No Sunday school classes until further notice.

According to an exchange, bloomer girls were invented twenty years ago. Max has proved it possible to master every tongue in the world except his wife's.

If you should say something good of a person, it is better to say it before than after the funeral.

Mr. Swann, of the provincial municipal offices, Edmonton, has been in The Pass for a week or more in connection with rural taxation adjustments. He will be joined tomorrow by Mrs. Swann and little daughter, who will spend a few days in Blairmore.

The funeral of the late Milton Danysz took place at Bellevue on Sunday afternoon, and was the largest ever seen in this part of Alberta. It was estimated that around 150 cars formed part of the procession. The remains were laid to rest in the Bellevue cemetery.

Bob Winstanley, of Michel, had the misfortune last week to have his right leg badly injured below the knee in a mine accident. He was apparently standing too close to a shot, when it exploded and struck him in the leg. As a result of the accident, it will probably be several months before he will be able to be around again.

Fine Quality Gives Satisfaction

"Fresh from the Gardens"

Economic News In Fashion

Periodically, organizations throughout the country pass resolutions deprecating the treatment of certain news by the public press, but, as a rule, these are ill-advised (however fine the motive behind them) for the simple reason that the press itself is the finest barometer of public opinion. Newspapers could not survive did they not interpret aright the desires of the public to which they cater; they could not exist as profit-making institutions, were it not for the fact they keep a wary finger on the flickering pulse of the fickle reading public they serve. The success of a daily newspaper depends upon its ability to give the public what it wants. That is why circulation has become the criterion of success in the newspaper field. The "wax" of the reading public varies from time to time and policies of the newspapers must vary with them. Hence, news fashions change, as fashions in clothing change; and it is extremely difficult to study the changes as they appear in the columns of the daily press.

A week or two ago, H. R. Knickerbocker, well-known European correspondent of the Hearst organization, arrived in England to write a series of articles for Hearst newspapers on the economic recovery of Great Britain. In the course of an interview, he said:

"One of the most remarkable things that has happened to the American Press since the depression started has been the public demand for economic news. Before 1929, nobody cared much, but when the slump hit America, it produced some peculiar results."

"Economic news now is considered as important as the latest sensational murder story. Whether the readers understand it or not, I don't know, but Americans have acquired a sudden curiosity to know what is happening to the rest of the world. Consequently, newspapers make a regular feature of analyses of world economic news."

Students of newspaper trends had been struck with this popularization of economic news in the United States, particularly through the writings of Walter Lippman, perhaps the most famous of all the commentators of economic events. In Canada, during the same period, a similar tendency has been remarked, the manifestations of which, perhaps, have been more abundant for reasons which are not far to seek.

Recent provincial elections in British Columbia and Saskatchewan especially have demonstrated clearly that the public is more eager to absorb information on economic matters, more desirous of listening to economic discussion from the public platform, than ever before.

This is primarily due to the fact realization of their dependence upon world markets has been brought home to the people of the prairie west with more directness than heretofore. They have become acutely aware of the fact that anything affecting the economic condition of the English textile worker, the French vineyard laborer, the coal miner of Scotland, or Wales, sooner or later, is reflected in their own economic condition. They know now that anything which affects the purchasing power of Germany, Austria, Japan or Chinese wage-earner, must eventually have its reflex here.

World economic news, therefore, has assumed new and more impressive proportions in the eyes of the Canadian people. The vital importance of a healthy world economy has become all too obvious. Consequently, when news turns bullish, when word comes that Britain is shuffling off the coils of long internal depression, the items partake of something more than the evanescent interest of the murder mystery or the sordid sex drama.

New political movements, too, have had their genesis in economic discontent; hence it is only natural that economic discussion should attract an ever widening public. The one drawback to the new fashion lies in the fact that economics, as far as the public is concerned, is an exact science, whose truths can be set forth with the precision of mathematical formulae. For that reason, it is essential that commitment to any specific theory should follow, not precede, complete study of economics, not as it has been advanced by some proponent of a particular doctrine, but as it has been advanced throughout economic history. The truth cannot be determined by study of one set of figures, but by analysis of all theories so far advanced from times preceding Adam Smith to those of latter-day Socialists. Such analysis should be made with due regard to practicality, as demonstrated in political history; not in the field of statecraft alone, but in the wider field of trade and commerce, particularly during the last century and a half.

Mosquitoes Hate Yellow

Avoid This Color But Adore Navy Blue And Red

If you would be free from mosquitoes, wear yellow. They simply hate it. If, however, you would like to receive the attentions of the little blighters, just wear navy blue, which they adore. They are keen on dark red, but adore navy blue. Ochre, white and orange are passe and yellow makes them bilious. These findings, states the Canadian National Steamships, have developed from recent studies and the company recommends yellow suits and yellow toques for tropical travel where mosquitoes are liable to abound.

Successful Candidate

Consider the recent campaign in the incomparable state of Kansas, says the New York Times. One candidate for the state legislature boasted of his honorable discharge from a local madhouse. In every stump speech, he waved the documents triumphantly. "I have papers here to prove I'm not crazy," he would cry. "Can my opponent say the same?" P.S.—He got the job.

Few People Escape Attacks Of Summer Complaint

Summer Complaint may be slight, or it may be serious, but you can't tell when it strikes you how it may and how long it will continue, for a day or two, and you may become weak and prostrate. Just as soon as you feel any looseness of the bowels go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and check its natural action before the weakening looseness can get started. Don't experiment. Get "Dr. Fowler's". It has been on the market for 88 years.

Rents Whole Hotel

Wealthiest Man in World Paying Visit To England

The richest man in the world is shortly to pay a visit to London. He is not an accidental magnate but a mighty Indian potentate, ruling over a state as large as England. He is His Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad.

This is his first visit to Europe and he will bring with him an entourage of 300 people, which includes thirty-five of his wives, who enjoy the life of senior Begums. They will be strictly in purdah, so no white man can look on their faces.

A special liner has been chartered and his envoys in advance are negotiating to take over a whole London luxury hotel.

Nobody knows the extent of the colossal wealth of the Nizam. Fantastic stories are current that the entire vaults of his palace extend for nearly two miles are lined with gold and silver bullion.

He rules over the millions of his subjects with a firm autocratic hand, which has more than once invoked the interference of the Viceroy of India. Shortly after war was pointed in his administration was not satisfactory to the Vice-regal party and a white political official officer was sent along to Hyderabad to "advise and report." This greatly incensed the Nizam.

Then something apparently went wrong on the Indian money market. Huge wads of Indian bearer bonds were being thrown on to the market and minor panics were starting on the stock exchanges of Bombay and Calcutta.

The government tried to buy the bonds but they still continued falling. The seller of the bonds was discovered to be the Nizam's broker.

There were hasty consultations between the Viceroy himself and the broker and afterwards with the Nizam. The stock markets ceased being flooded with bearer bonds and His Britannic Majesty's political adviser to the state of Hyderabad was called away to undertake less disturbing duties. That little rascal the Nizam had about ten million dollars.

His first visit to London is to "render homage" and pay his respects to King George. He will be accorded sovereign honors, such as twenty-one gun salutes, a sovereign escort, guards lining the route from the station to the hotel and one of the King's sons at the station to meet him. In fact, everything will be done on the kingly scale to make this very important potentate, for he can make himself a bigger nuisance to the "ashiks" than a dozen naked Ghandis.

Rung By Radio Signal

Admiral Byrd Flashed Signal To Liberty Bell July 4

America's foremost historical relic, the liberty bell in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, was rung by a radio signal from Admiral Byrd broadcast to and from the Antarctic over the WAEC-Columbia network July 4. Special permission to ring the bell was obtained from Mayor J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, who spoke during the broadcast. Byrd situated at his lonely advance base 125 miles south of expedition headquarters, flashed a signal to Independence Hall. Engineers of WCAU, CBS station in Philadelphia, arranged to "feed" the electrical impulse to a hammer which struck the liberty bell. Its tone was heard not only throughout the United States and Canada, but also in Little America.

Correct English

Should Take Pride In Preservation Of Furry Of Our Language

The person who speaks correctly to-day, or writes what is called "good English", is speaking or writing in the manner of Addison and Pitt and Macaulay and Gladstone and other great masters of the language. It is true new words have been created to meet new wants arising out of our evolutionary progress, and there are many technical terms in common use that Pitt wouldn't have understood. But basically our English is their English, and we should take a decent pride in the fact in the preservation of a magnificent asset and the maintenance of a splendid tradition—Ottawa Journal.

Must Wear Moustache

Budget is going to have romantic moustachioed policemen. An order has been issued by the chief of police that all mounted policemen must from now on wear moustaches. It is considered not only conducive to military appearance and bearing, but in line with the national tradition of the dashing Magyar horseman.

Colonization Finance Corporation

W. C. McKillop, Former Dean of Manitoba Agricultural College, Appointed Farm Manager At Indian Head

T. O. F. Herzer, General Manager, of the Colonization Finance Corporation of Canada, Limited, has announced the appointment of W. C. McKillop, Dean of the Manitoba Agricultural College, as farm manager for the Indian Head zone of the Colonization Finance Corporation succeeding O. S. Longman who has accepted the appointment of Field Crops Commissioner for the province of Alberta. Mr. McKillop is taking up his duties immediately, and brings to his new position of farm manager a wealth of agricultural training and practical knowledge, and experience of many years as superintendent of the Dominion Experimental farm at Brandon, as well as dean of the Agricultural College.

Mr. McKillop was born on August 23rd, 1882, in Glenary County, Ontario, of Scotch parentage. He was raised on the farm of his father who was well known in Eastern Ontario. He received his education at the University of Toronto. In 1906, he joined the staff of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, as representative of the Seed Branch in Alberta and British Columbia where he had under his supervision and field competitions in Alberta. He started a seed testing laboratory in Calgary in March, 1911, he transferred from the Seed Branch to the Experimental Farms and became superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm, his work in this position being very prominent. In 1920, he was transferred to the Faculty of Agriculture and Home Economics following the inclusion of the Agricultural College in the University of Alberta.

With the appointment of Mr. McKillop, the Colonization Finance Corporation gains its complete corps of farm managers covering Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan, where he has under his supervision approximately 1,700 farms totalling approximately 600,000 acres, three-quarters of which are owned by the owners, subject to mortgage or agreement of sale, only 25% being held by the corporation. The chief of the present month Louis L. Lang, of Galt, Ontario, president of the Colonization Finance Corporation, first vice-president of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, and president of the Lang Farming Company of Kitchener, Ontario, is expected to make his second official inspection trip to the zone accompanied by a number of directors of the Colonization Finance Corporation who are executives of eastern financial institutions. It is expected that as a result of Mr. Lang's trip some important announcements will be made regarding the expansion and further operation of the Colonization Finance Corporation.

Wager With Death

Two Colorado Convicts In Test To Determine Value Of New Serum

Two Colorado convicts were sentenced to death in a series of tests to determine the value of a new serum its discoverers hope will prevent tuberculosis.

The convicts, Carl Erickson and Mike Schmidt, said they have gained weight and are in good health although they have taken several doses of the serum and live tuberculosis bacilli have been injected into their blood.

The live term convicts were told the serum and injections of live bacilli might kill them, but they volunteered to become subjects of experiment. The convicts, Carl Erickson and Mike Schmidt, promised them pardon if they survived.

Russia Imports Wheat

Millions Of Bushels, It Is Claimed, Are Being Sent To Vladivostok

Millions of bushels of wheat, an authoritative source disclosed, are being imported into Vladivostok because of large increase in Russian military manpower in eastern Siberia due to tension between Japan and Russia.

More than 3,000,000 bushels will be imported this year, this source disclosed, entirely for the purpose of feeding an increased Russian military establishment.

Despite lack of official statistics from the Soviet Union, it was learned that imports at Vladivostok, once an important Russian terminal for Russian wheat exports, gradually have been increasing during the past six years.

New Air Service

Direct air passenger express service between Seattle and British Columbia became effective July 1 when United Air Lines opened operation into Vancouver. Extension of the Seattle coast airway will place 121 1/2 hours apart.

Agricultural Notes

Many Items Of Interest To The Western Farmer

Sudan grass is being grown more extensively this year for pasture purposes in the St. Lawrence counties of Eastern Ontario.

Commercial canning is one of the oldest of the larger organized industries in the Dominion. The first factory was established at Grimsby, Ontario, in 1878.

Seed cleaning operators in British Columbia state that, owing to the general low viability of the timothy seed cleaned this year, much more seed was blown out in cleaning than in previous years, in order to improve the germination.

A saving of thousands of dollars in preparing grasshopper mixtures in Alberta has been effected by the pulverization of the sawdust used, on the recommendation of the Dominion Seed Branch inspectors, thereby resulting in the use of only 20 per cent. of bran instead of 50 per cent. as formerly.

Under the amended regulations of the Dairy Industries Act, a dairy producer, grader may refuse to grade any cheese or butter which in his judgment is of either too low a temperature or too low a temperature to permit proper examination, until the temperature of said cheese or butter is brought within a satisfactory range.

The sale of commercial fertilizers in Saskatchewan has been considerably higher last year, some 1,400 tons of ammonium sulphate and 100 tons of triple superphosphate having been sold. Most of the fertilizer went into the territory east and north of Regina and north of the Saskatchewan-Macklin line. Fertilizer sales in Quebec are estimated at 25 per cent. greater last year.

Owing to dryness, seed prospects in Quebec, as at May 31, were not promising, especially for timothy and clover. Farmers, however, had planned to increase their seed production considerably, and a circular was sent to prospective growers acquainting them with the services available from the inspectors of the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

By the discovery of the late Sir Ronald Ross of the relationship between the mosquito and the spread of malaria, eventually in a similar discovery regarding yellow fever, and only saved millions of human lives but enabled millions of acres of potentially fertile land in tropical and subtropical areas of the world to be placed under economic crops. Previously these areas were death-traps to anyone who attempted to cultivate them or live upon them.

During the ten months ended May, 1934, the amount of wheat exported from Canada was 138,828,849 bushels. Of this, 95,765,894 bushels went to Empire countries—British Free State, New Zealand, Malta, other dependencies, and the United Kingdom, the last named alone taking 93,662,081 bushels. The total amount of wheat exported to foreign countries was 43,062,955 bushels. In the order of the wheat exports, these countries were Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, China, Peru, Bolivia, Brazil, the United States, and other small shipments abroad.

Imports of Canadian barley into the Netherlands reached their peak in 1929 when they totalled 143,772 metric tons, or over 41 per cent. of the total. In 1930 the imports fell to 11,881 tons, but in 1931 went up again to 108,630 tons. In 1932 the quantity imported was 77,068, and in 1933 there were no imports of consequence. Since the beginning of 1934 there have been no imports of barley from Canada. Despite its absence from this market for a year and a half, Canadian barley is well liked in Holland and some consumers still ask for it although the price is too high to make business possible, says the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Holland.

Built Fireproof Nest

A pigeon nesting in the courtyard of the federal building at Denver, Colorado, was apparently influenced by ideas of fireproof construction used in the structure. Despite an abundance of twigs and shrubbery it made its nest entirely of wire paper clips. J. M. Leo, janitor, who discovered the nest, reported that there were two eggs in it.

Stitched Heart Works

The medical profession, keenly interested, kept touch by telephone, as George Hampton, 41, continued to improve after an operation in a Lancaster, Pa., hospital, in which his heart was lifted from its place, stitched to close a stab wound, and replaced.

New X-Ray Device

Possible For Doctors Miles Away To Examine Patient

A new X-ray observation device, revealing the anatomy of the least substantial body organs and even the blood vessels in their natural color, has been perfected, and patented by Luther G. Simjian, farmer-director of the photographic department of the Yale Medical School. It has been announced.

Mr. Simjian's apparatus not only will show the structure and density of bony opaque parts that appear on present X-ray plates as dim shadowy forms, but lessens existing hazards to the subject being examined. Moreover, by a system of telegraphic wiring between hospitals, it will be possible for a patient to sit before an X-ray tube in one clinic while the image of his internal organs is reproduced for specialists in another clinic hundreds of miles away, or in any number of clinics at the same time.

Superficially, Mr. Simjian's invention resembles the familiar X-ray fluorescent screen which reflects the sharp shadow thrown by the subject as he sits between the source of the rays and the screen. In this shadow, dense objects, such as bones, appear almost black, while tissues of less weight fade into lighter tints of gray. Invariably the diagnostic must indulge in guesswork as he strains to distinguish faint lines of shading.

When the physician desires to peer further into the secrets of a particular organ, such as the heart, he must increase the intensity of the X-rays.

MANY POSITIONS ARE WAITING TO BE FILLED

Ottawa.—Appointments to positions of high and low degree, running well into the hundreds, are now the gift of the government, some of them requiring immediate action and others not of a pressing nature.

Among the most important positions to be filled are the governorship of the central bank, the chairmanship of the board of railway commissioners, head of the proposed Dominion marketing board, a member for the Canadian Radio Commission and the 11 senate vacancies.

In addition, there will be numerous minor officials under the new debt adjustment measure, the Franchise Act (mostly temporary), the Marketing Act and the Bank of Canada Act.

The office of deputy minister of marine has long been vacant and will likely be filled before the next general election, if not sooner, and there is to be an appointment of a director of tourist activities to administer the fund of $100,000 set aside for that purpose in the supplementary estimates.

The 11 senate vacancies are in Nova Scotia (2), New Brunswick (3), Quebec (3), Ontario (2), and Manitoba (1).

There has been a heavy mortality list in the senate since the present government assumed office and with 16 appointments already made by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and 11 to be made, the upper chamber will be preponderantly of Conservative leaning. The present standing is: Conservatives, 35; Liberals, 35.

Observers have indulged in very little speculation upon the selection of a governor for the central bank, but there is a growing belief he will be a Canadian and not an import from England as was at first indicated. The bulk of the initial personnel will be drawn from the financial department of the government, it is understood.

Hon. G. S. Harrington, former premier of Nova Scotia, is said to be slated for the chairmanship of the board of railway commissioners and his appointment is expected momentarily. The vacancy came through the appointment of Hon. C. P. Fullerton, another Nova Scotian, to the chairmanship of the Canadian National Railways board of trustees.

Communists Released

Two Serving Term in Kingston Prison Gain Freedom

Toronto.—Freed after serving little more than half their five-year terms in Kingston penitentiary for being members of the Communist party, ruled an unlawful organization in Canada, John Boychuk, Malcolm Bruce and Tom Hill came back to their homes here.

The trio was released from prison late in the afternoon and came to Toronto by train to receive a noisy welcome and two dozen of roses each from members and supporters of the Canadian Labor Defense League. The trio of the Union station re-echoed with their songs, including the Internationale.

Recommendation for their release was passed at Ottawa and followed less than a week the freeing of Sam Carr and Matthew Popovich whose planned welcome was disrupted by police.

Will Not Limit Navy

Russia Is Building Extensively For Defence Of Coastlines

Moscow.—Soviet Russia, lacking an adequate navy to defend its great Arctic, Baltic, Black Sea and Pacific coastlines, is building extensively and has no interest in limiting its navy at this time. The Associated Press is able to state on information from dependable sources that the Soviet union has no intention of taking part in the naval limitation conference at London next year, unless political problems are to be discussed there.

Police Guarding Film Flon

Winnipeg.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police stationed at Flon Flon as the result of disorders in connection with the strike of miners there will not be brought back until it is apparent there is no need for their services, Premier John Bracken declared, following a mass demonstration in front of the legislative buildings by the Workers' Unity League.

Find Body Of Policeman

Body Of Constable Carr Is Found In Fraser River

Vancouver.—Second victim of the slaying at Canford Indian reserve on May 23, for which three Indians are sentenced to hang, the body of British Columbia Police Constable Percy Carr has been found.

A body found in the Fraser river, 400 miles from the scene of the slayings, has been identified through dental work and scraps of clothing as that of the missing constable.

Coroner K. Kelly, of Chilliwack, where the remains are resting, found that the constable met death from injuries and not from drowning. There will be no inquest, the authorities considering that the inquest into the death of Dominion Indian Department Constable F. H. Glabourne, brought out all the evidence available.

Constables Carr and Glabourne were slain when they went to the Indian reserve, near Merritt, to effect an arrest.

These Indian brothers, Richardson, Enesa and Alex. George, have been convicted of the slaying of Glabourne and sentenced to hang October 26.

Italian Navy Plans

France Is Annoyed Over Italian Plan To Build New Ships

London.—French negotiators in the Anglo-French naval conversations were represented by pessimism close to the situation as insisting that France will be unable to participate in the 1935 conference unless the Italian plan to build two new 35,000 ton vessels is eliminated.

Despite this annoyance over Italian plans, Francois Pietri, French minister of the navy, who is carrying on the conversations here, indicated France is willing to do anything reasonable to meet the demands of Italy.

The matter will be discussed by French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou when he meets Premier Mussolini next, it was indicated.

Cattle Reach England

Shipment Of 655 Head Landed In Good Condition

Ottawa.—A cable to the department of agriculture reported the arrival at Birkhead, of the S.S. Manchester, Ottawa with 655 Canadian cattle. The shipment landed in good condition. No sales had been made at the time of cableing.

No decision has yet been reached in the conferences now in progress between Canada and the United Kingdom with regard to the quota on Canadian cattle exported to Great Britain for the remaining six months of the current calendar year. For the first half of 1934 Canada's cattle quota was 23,500 head.

Shingle Mill Burned

Fire Loss In Vancouver Estimated At Quarter Million

Vancouver.—Forty men are without employment here as the result of the $250,000 fire which destroyed the plant of the Western Red Cedar Mills, Limited. Of unknown origin, the flames broke out at the mill located on the Fraser river and razed the various buildings.

Stored lumber valued at $82,000 was destroyed together with the buildings and machinery. Firemen fought several hours before getting the blaze under control. No insurance was carried.

Convention At The Coast

Vancouver.—More than 400 engineers from the United States and Western Canada, gathered here for the first joint convention of the American Society of Civil Engineering and the western professional meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada, heard United States and Canadian views on power, navigation and reclamation possibilities of the Columbia river.

Promoted And Retired

Ottawa.—Promotion of Commodore Walter Hose, C.B.E., to the rank of rear-admiral in the Royal Canadian Navy was announced from the department of national defence, July 10. At the same time the announcement was made of the retirement of Rear-Admiral Hose from the service. He was placed on the retired list on July 1, following several years as director of naval services.

Customs Show Recovery

Ottawa.—Marked recovery was noticeable in the amount of customs duties collected during the first five months of 1934 compared with the same period of 1933, the Dominion bureau of statistics reports. The amount of duties collected on domestic sales also showed a very material increase.

Economy Measures

Hepburn Putting Into Effect Pre-Election Pledges

Toronto.—Working with the assurance of tried political veterans the new Ontario cabinet, headed by the 37-year-old premier, Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn, began to rule Ontario. Following out their pre-election pledges their first task was to replace the two most important commissions at a salary cost to the province more than 50 per cent. less than under the previous administration.

Mr. Hepburn's "big parade" started with high officials of the hydro-electric power commission and the liquor control board leading the movement out of government offices. As for the lesser lights, if any, to follow, the new premier kept his own counsel.

Steps were set in motion to bring the new liquor law providing for the open sale and consumption of beer and wine into operation at an early date.

The new hydro commission is headed by T. Stewart Lyon of Toronto as chairman with a salary of $10,000, and the other two commissioners are ministers of the crown who will serve without salary. They are Hon. T. B. McQuesten, minister of highways, and Hon. Arthur Roubek, attorney-general.

Edmond G. Odette of Tilbury, the new one-man liquor commission, whose salary will also be $10,000.

BIG FEDERAL LOAN EXPECTED TO BE ISSUED

Ottawa.—The extent to which new Dominion government securities will be offered to the public this year has not yet been decided and will, undoubtedly, depend upon the state of the market. Should securities markets continue in their present condition it would not be surprising if the government loan, to be launched within the next month or two, would reach $500,000,000.

There are maturities and other obligations amounting around $400,000,000 and if the issue can be sold at a profit of 3 1/2 per cent, which seems not improbable, it is likely the larger amount will be offered as a sound financial operation.

With more than $1,000,000,000 in savings accounts drawing 2 1/2 per cent, and the possibility the savings interest rate may be still further lowered, it would seem financial observers state, circumstances favor the flotation of a big loan.

Another financial operation which will probably be launched at about the same time will be the shares of the new central bank, amounting to $5,000,000 and bearing a maximum dividend rate of 4 1/2 per cent. This issue will also be the responsibility of the government.

These security issues will be handled entirely by the department of finance where complete machinery is ready to be set in motion when the proper time arrives.

THIRD TIME LUCKY AIRWOMAN REACHES AUSTRALIA

Miss Jean Batton, nicknamed "the third time lucky airwoman" because of her first attempt that she succeeded in flying solo from England to Australia in record time, is shown receiving a tumultuous welcome on the completion of her flight. She broke Amy John Mollison's record for the distance by four days.

NEW PREMIER

Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Lands and Forests in the Alberta Government, who has been chosen to succeed Hon. J. E. Brownlie in the premiership.

By Northern Route

Cattle Shipment From Port Of Churchill In Mid-August

Montreal.—First cattle shipment from Churchill will leave the northern Manitoba seaport in mid-August, it was learned in shipping circles here.

The Brandon has been chartered to sail about August 20 with 250 cattle and a cargo of wheat, it was stated, the cattle being a joint shipment to the United Kingdom by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Livestock Producers and the Alberta organization, the Western Stock Growers' Association. The Saskatchewan pool is shipping the grain.

The cattle will be bought by the Co-operative Wholesale Society of the United Kingdom, which is also taking a large portion of the grain, it is learned. It is believed the Brandon will make a second trip later in the season to Churchill, loading a second cargo of cattle.

The Dalwhol, Monkwood and Grethold are chartered to take grain from Churchill with two other vessels, the names of which were not available here.

Starting Long Journey

Saskatchewan Family Going To Vancouver In Covered Wagon

Coronach, Sask.—One of the longest overland treks attempted in recent years in a covered wagon has been started by Guy Hamilton, wife and family, who left for Creston Valley, British Columbia, to make their new home. Mr. Hamilton is taking along two cows and a calf. Cows will supply the family with milk, and the calf will drink the surplus. The family will be about three months on the road.

Pay Visit To England

Portsmouth, England.—For the first time in more than 20 years German warships visited an English port July 11. The German cruisers Koenigsberg and Leipzig were greeted by a salvo of 21 guns fired by shore batteries. They stayed here four days.

End Musicians' Strike

Trouble Affecting Radio Commission Artists Has Been Adjusted

Ottawa.—The walk-out of musicians affiliated with the American Federation of Musicians, affecting the Canadian radio broadcasting commission, ended after a conference between Hector Charlesworth, commission chairman, and Joseph Weber, of New York, president of the federation.

It was announced by Mr. Charlesworth the commission agreed to continue paying union wages to musicians, but declined to operate a closed or unionized organization. This was agreeable to the federation president, who called off the strike a few minutes later through the Canadian unions.

The walkout started in Montreal, June 10, and was extended throughout Canada at midnight, June 15. It affected all musicians affiliated with the American federation who demand higher wages and recognition of the unions. Under the agreement the striking musicians will not be penalized and will be re-absorbed into commission programs as soon as possible.

Wins Wheat Award

Joseph Smith Captures Prizes At Calgary Exhibition

Calgary.—Joseph H. B. Smith, international wheat exhibitor of Wolfe Creek, Alta., captured new awards in the field section of the Calgary exhibition.

In the general division for hard red spring wheat his half-bushel sample was awarded the grand championship and several special prizes.

The grand championship for oats went to J. Rock of Morris, Alta.

STEVENS PROBE WILL OPEN AGAIN IN SEPTEMBER

Ottawa.—Formal sittings of the price spreads and mass buying commission are expected to open in September, Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, announced.

The commission will investigate and report upon chain stores, agricultural implements, fish, flour mills and bakeries and the fruit and vegetable canning industry.

All sittings will be held in Ottawa. Pending the beginning of formal hearings, examination and analysis of the evidence taken by the parliamentary committee, which has been turned into a commission, will be made. The 11 members of parliament headed by Mr. Stevens have been sworn as commissioners.

The official statement was issued by the minister. It stated in part: "The members of the commission were sworn in on Tuesday, July 10, in the afternoon by E. J. Lemaire, clerk of the privy council, in the east block."

"Subsequently a meeting of the commission was held in the office of the minister of trade and commerce, Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman of the commission."

"L. B. Pearson of external affairs was appointed secretary to the commission. J. H. Boyer, a member of the staff of the department of trade and commerce, was appointed assistant secretary."

"The chairman outlined to the commission proposals for the carrying on of the work of the commission and it was decided that experts of the bureau of statistics of the department of trade and commerce would make a careful examination and analysis of the evidence taken by the committee of the House of Commons and the exhibits filed with that committee. This work will be placed in hand at once and will be carried on during the summer months."

"Under the order-in-council appointing the commission, authority is given to the committee of the House of Commons and to investigate and report upon the chain stores, agricultural implements, fish, flour mills and bakeries, the fruit and vegetable canning industry and the preparation of evidence on these matters will be taken in hand at once by the secretary and his staff and counsel for the committee. The evidence when ready will be presented to the commission at a subsequent hearing, at which time witnesses will be heard in support of the evidence, also any way may be affected in any way by the investigation will be given an opportunity to present their views."

ACTION TO SHUT OUT AUSTRALIAN WHEAT IMPORTS

Ottawa.—The Dominion government has taken action to shut out Australian wheat and flour. British preferential rates on these commodities when imported indirectly into Canada have been withdrawn, and the benefits of the preference have also been removed from raisins, dried currants and butter.

The government's action in respect to wheat and flour was not unexpected. Imports of Australian wheat and flour were the subject of repeated representations in the House of Commons last session. At that time, Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, gave the assurance they would cease.

Under the terms of the Canada-Australia trade agreement either country has the right to request the other to take remedial measures in cases where imports from the other are injuring domestic business. Representations were made to Australia on the matter of wheat and flour, but whether or not remedial measures were instituted is not indicated.

Opposes Liquor Ads

Premier Hepburn Against Liquor Advertising In Ontario Papers

Toronto.—Opposition to newspaper advertising of liquor was expressed by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn when asked what course the Ontario government would follow in this regard.

"Personally," said the premier, "I am opposed to liquor advertising in Ontario newspapers and other publications. I want to be fair to the temperance people of this province. To me, it seems an anomaly to try and teach temperance, upon which we all are agreed, and at the same time allow liquor advertising."

Removal of the ban on advertising lies with the liquor control board of which the lone commissioner, Edmond G. Odette, has expressed himself in favor of advertising on the ground the Ontario press has been "too long in the past in this regard. But it is suggested no such move would be made without authority of the government."

To The Ends Of The Earth

Radio Signals Flashed From Arctic To Antarctic

New York.—The ends of the earth—the Arctic and the Antarctic—were linked through New York by radio. It was said to be the first feat of this sort to be accomplished in history.

Radio signals were sent from a remote point in northwestern Alaska, well within the Arctic circle, through New York, to Little America in the Antarctic.

Charles J. V. Murphy, communications officer of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's expedition, told New York of having heard the Arctic signals.

May Revise Pension Act

British Columbia Now Has Liability Of Eight Million Dollars

Vancouver.—An overhauling of the structure of the special reserve account under the British Columbia Superannuation Act, by S. H. Pipe, Toronto actuary, has revealed that there exists a liability of $8,000,000 if superannuation payments are to be continued on the same basis as in the past and without revision of the superannuation set-up. Mr. Pipe is accordingly conferring with provincial and municipal employees, explaining recommendations which are expected to be embodied in a revised act to be presented at the next session of the legislature.

Three Rivers, Que.—Imagine some bold spirit stealing an automobile right under the noses of 400 police and fire chiefs. J. M. Bureau, legal adviser to the Three Rivers police department, has had a hard time, but he has attended meetings of the Association of Fire and Police Chiefs of the province of Quebec. When he came out the car was gone.

THE CRUCIFIXION OF
JOHN E. BROWNLEE

By the verdict of the jury in the suit against the Hon. John E. Brownlee, a great wrong was done. It was done to a man whose private life was distinguished in an extraordinary degree by a fine delicacy and who has lived up to the highest standards of personal honor.

A verdict was given against him on evidence which no body of fair-minded men who were not either morons, or temporarily blinded by political or personal rancor, or carried away by the influence of mob hysteria, would hang a yellow dog.

The verdict was a terrible miscarriage of justice.

Every newspaper in the province, every citizen who possesses the capacity to weigh evidence, knows this to be the truth. Brownlee has been crucified on the altar of the black mass of personal rancor, greed, and political hatred fanned by certain sections of the daily press.

For the creation of mob hysteria, two daily newspapers which combined total lack of scruple and honor with a certain skill in the art of playing upon the strings of unworthy passion, prejudice, and unreason to which human nature at its worst is prone, have been mainly responsible. One, the Edmonton Bulletin, has boldly and shamelessly made its appeal to these unworthy motives before, during and since the trial. The other, the Calgary Herald, reserved its stores of venom until after the verdict of the jury had given it license for the moment for a course of action which the Herald must know to be a violation of every standard of ethics and decency. The Bulletin's methods are those of the ordinary gangster and thug. The methods of attack preferred by the Herald are those of the oily, hypocritical assassin—of a Pecksniff with murderous proclivities; murderous because the Herald must be fully aware that the man whom it seeks by cunning aspersion to consign to moral perdition, is a man against whom no credible evidence of the slightest departure from the observance of the high standards of behavior for which he is honored by his friends, has been adduced.—The United Farmer.

WHAT IS A BUNGALOW?

With the comfort of motor tourists in mind, the government of the province of Quebec has passed a new law concerning the building and operating of tourists bungalows. A bungalow is defined as "a small building equipped and furnished only for the lodging of travellers, and forming part of an establishment, the main building of which is an hotel." The structures can only be built upon a property bounded on one side by a river or lake, it is stipulated, and the minimum number of bungalows for each hotel is set at five. A bungalow must have no other storey than the ground floor, and each bedroom in a bungalow furnished with one single bed shall measure at least 100 feet square of flooring; with a double bed, 120 feet; with a double and single bed, 160 feet; with two double beds, 180 feet.

ALBERTA IS PROUD OF
MR. JUSTICE IVES

The province of Alberta and the Dominion of Canada have high reason to be proud of its splendid jurist, Mr. Justice Ives. With courage and conscience of a high order, he throttled with bare hands the monstrous political corruption, intrigue, and audacious legal effrontery which is raising its head in this province.

With this secret and poisonous viper at large no public man's home, character, property—nor life, is safe. With perjury, with apparently rehearsed fabrication, with unfortunate tools, it threatens the safety, the honor, and the character of every citizen who may stand in the path of its lecherous ambitions. Let us honor the man who fearlessly dared this viper in its den—Bert Hoffman, Cheadle, in the United Farmer.

Priceless jewelry which once adorned women and men of the court of Nebuchadnezzar some 2,500 years ago, magnificent sculptures of the Sassanian period, and royal tombs more than 5,500 years old, were discovered at the site of the ancient city of Kish in Iraq.

Jim McCoil is the latest addition to the Waltonian tribe, and they say that zealous old Jimmy has already introduced new ideas that may be generally accepted and practiced. Jimmy recently journeyed away up the north reaches of the Elk river, where fish are both plentiful and large. Fly hooks were of no avail; so the bait hook and sinker had to be resorted to. Then it was found that the finny creatures demanded something out of the ordinary in the way of inducement. A large copper cent was tried, but no response. Next a two-bit piece, from which the bigger fish shied away, but some of the little gaffers took a fair liking to it. Jim had an American silver dollar in his wallet. This he polished to make the eagle look like a real bird, and after punching a hole through the side and attaching it to his line, settled down to fish. Immediately he experienced a vicious tug, and away went line and the dollar. Jim now offers twenty-five cents reward for the return of that dollar. Anyway, Jim is quite satisfied that the fish by now realizes that that eagle was no bull.

Local and General Items

Mr. and Mrs. D. Rees and son, of Blairmore, paid a visit to Cranbrook last week.—Cranbrook Courier.

According to the official organ of the U.F.A., the United Farmer, the new premier, Hon. R. G. Reid, in the formation of his new cabinet, bowed with much regret at Hon. O. L. McPherson's decision not to allow his name to be included in the cabinet.

Mrs. Mary Hastings, formerly Miss Mary Sweeney and later Mrs. Mary McAlpine, hotel proprietress, was kidnapped and murdered near Stroudsburg, Pa., recently. As Mrs. McAlpine, she at one time operated the Pacific hotel, now the Empire, at Coleman.

After the Scotchmen had finished blowing on their streamline V-8 bangles last week at the big Claresholm celebration, the "clan" met in a downtown cafe and weird and wild were the stories told. Sandy Durham, told of being in a Highland regiment over at the war and was later joined by Bill Noble. It appeared that while Sandy and Bill were both under heavy shell fire Bill called out to Sandy who was in the front rank: "Dinna-bob, Sandy, the noo, 'cause I'm ahine ye."—Stavelly Advertiser.

It is proposed in renovating the school curriculum to modify mathematics to meet practical requirements in the courses designed for the average school pupil, and those who require higher mathematics will take them up in the specialized courses. This seems sensible. The same could well apply to languages, for all the good the average high school language courses do is to intimidate or annoy the larger percentage of the student body and do not go far enough to be of any cultural value.—Claresholm Local Press.

And as for asking the new U.F.A. premier to open up and go to the country for an election right now, it is just as illogical as to ask the leader of a disorganized army to come out and do battle. There is nothing much the U.F.A. government can do if it remains in office for another season, nor that the Liberal government could do if it gained power immediately, that would materially alter the trend of provincial affairs, however extravagant their claims might be. And we are not so sure that either of these parties would be returned to power should Aberhart's Social Creditors become politically organized. This new movement has a potential strength far greater than most people like to admit. Should they come out as a unit and organize a straight campaign they would poll a tremendous vote right now. If they submerge their issues in the promise of support from any other organized party their cause will be sunk, for ten chances to one, their cause would be entirely ignored following an election.—Claresholm Local Press.

A NEW NAME FOR EDMONTON

We understand some little time ago one of the Farmer members (we believe it was Mr. Walker, of Claresholm) made a motion in the house that, for patriotic and historic reasons, the name of Edmonton should be changed to "Passchendale." The motion fell on deaf ears, however. But the other day Billy Howson was mean enough to revive the subject, and moved the name might now be appropriately changed as suggested by Mr. Walker, but that it should be spelled "Passlendale."—Stavelly Advertiser.

Town water was shut off till noon at Bellevue on Saturday. Many citizens of canny origin took advantage of the fact by washing their hands many times in beer waste. The following two days were spent in sucking and licking.

A snobbish woman, about to entertain a duchess for the first time, gave very careful instructions to the maid who was to open the door about the way in which the duchess was to receive. "Now, Mary," she said, "remember, whenever you address the duchess, you must say 'Your grace.'" When the great day arrived and the maid opened the door to the duchess, and the latter enquired if Mrs. So and So was at home, the maid answered: "Yes, ma'am, she is, and may the Lord make us truly thankful for what we are about to receive."

had a phrase for it---

"CAVEAT EMPTOR," meaning "Let the buyer beware." This wasn't used as a bit of balm to ease the ancient conscience; nor, yet, was it placarded in the booths and stalls of the market-place. It was a piece of ever-day knowledge, born of dear-bought experience.

A shopkeeper knew little about the source of his merchandise. This tunic he bought from a trader, who said it came from Byzantium. So he sold it as the latest Byzantine style. The trader told him the dye was pure Tyrian—it wouldn't fade. So he sold it as Tyrian dyed. But the buyer knew the responsibility was his own. If he guessed wrongly, or his judgment was poor, it was his hard luck.

Today, fortunately, there are safer guides than the blanket-warning to "let your eyes be your market."

These guides are the newspaper advertisements. In this newspaper, they are a catalogue of the best values in town—signed by responsible firms. If the goods are not all that is claimed for them, their sponsors would need to "beware." For no business can thrive on a one-time sale, or on dissatisfied customers.

A signed advertisement is, in a way, like a promissory note. The advertiser has made a statement, and affixed his signature as a sign of good faith.

So, read the advertisements before you start out on a buying-trip. Make this a weekly habit, and see how much you save --- in time, in temper, in money, in shoe-leather.

A SCOTTISH ESTIMATE OF HER MAJESTY'S QUALITIES

The Glasgow Weekly Mail many years ago published the following report of a chairman's speech in giving the toast to "The Queen" at an agricultural show dinner in Scotland.

"Noo, gentlemen, will ye a' fill yer glasses, for I'm about to bring forrit 'The Queen.'"

Oor Queen, gentlemen, is really a wonderful woman, if I may say it; she's ane o' the guld auld sort. Nae Whigmaleeries or faldalals about her, but a douce decent lady. She's respectable beyond a' doot. She has brocht up a grand family o' weel-faured lads and lasses—her auld son being a credit to any nithing—and they're a' weel married. Ane daughter is nae less than married to the Duke o' Argyll's son and heir.

Gentlemen, ye'll maybe no' believe it, but I ance saw the Queen, I did. It was when I took my auld broon coo to the Perth show. I remember her weel—such color, such hair!" (Interruption and cries of "Is it the coo or the Queen ye're proposing?")

"The Queen, gentlemen. I beg your pardon, but I was talking about the coo. However, as to the Queen, somebody pointed her oot to me at Perth station, and there she was, smart and tidy like; and says I to myself: 'Gin my auld woman at hantie slips awa', ye needna remain a widower anither hour langer.' Noo, gentlemen, the whusky's guid, the night is lang, the weather is wet and the roads are saft, and will harm naebody that comes to grief. So aff wi' yer drink to the bottom! 'The Queen!'"

A Clergyman's Startling Notice

A Pass clergyman was very anxious to introduce some new hymn books into the church, and arranged with his clerk that the latter was to give out the notice immediately after the sermon. The clerk, however, had a notice of his own to give out, with reference to the baptism of infants. Accordingly, at the close of the sermon, he arose and announced that "All those who had children whom they wish to have baptized, please send in their names at once to the clerk." The clergyman, who was rather deaf, assumed that the clerk was giving out the hymn-book notice, and immediately rose and said: "And I should say, for the benefit of those who haven't any, that they may obtain some from the ushers any day from three to four o'clock—the ordinary little ones at one shilling each, and special ones at one shilling and fourpence."

Two Scotsmen had been out in a small boat fishing for a few minutes, when they felt the first pangs of seasickness. "Och, Sandy," groaned one, "I'm feelin' terrible. How long have we hired this boat for?" Sandy: "For two hours."

"Oh, ma guidness!"

Barrister (in local court a few days ago): "How many children have you?"

Man: "Let's see—Tom, Bill, Nelly, Harry—"

Small boy at the back of the courtroom: "Don't forget me, father."

"Did you ever try any of my biscuits, Judge?" inquired the "proud housewife."

"No, I don't recall that I ever did," replied Judge McDonald, absently, "but I have no doubt they deserve it."

Teacher (answering phone): "You say Willie Royle has a cold and can't come to school? Who is this speaking?"

Voice (in harsh tone): "This is my father."

Teacher: "Willie, you may explain how we hear things."

Willie: "Pa tells 'em to ma as a secret, and ma gives 'em away at the bridge club."

Mistress: "If my husband brings his friends to dinner, are you prepared?"

New Cook: "Yes, ma'am. My bag is already packed."

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Steel experts in Germany claim to have developed an alloy nearly as hard as diamonds for cutting tools.

To cope with a potato shortage the reich government has lifted import quota restrictions on potatoes from Holland, Belgium and Italy.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, British explorer, left Croydon by aeroplane for Singapore to join the Lincoln Ellsworth Antarctic expedition.

A new museum of antiquities has been opened at the ruins of Corinth, to house relics found in 40 years of excavation.

In the first four months of 1933 building plans in Johannesburg exceeded the total value of plans for the whole of 1932 by $800,000.

The Prince of Wales received 360 war pilgrims from South Africa in the grounds of St. James' palace, the party being from a pilgrimage to the battlefields of France and Flanders.

A collection of 360 letters belonging to Napoleon Bonaparte, which were apparently abandoned when Napoleon fled from Moscow in 1812, were reported found in a box in a corner of the Kremlin.

Helen Boucher, French air woman, set a new world speed record for light planes flying 13,500 pounds by covering a 1,000-kilometre course at an average speed of 254 kilometres per hour.

Marked recovery was noticeable in the amount of customs duties collected during the first five months of 1933 compared with the same period of 1932, the Dominion bureau of statistics reports.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner to the United Kingdom, told a London audience the world looked more than ever toward Britain for leadership. Mr. Ferguson was speaking at the opening of an exhibition of Canadian products.

Has Ingenious Idea

Man in England Announces Use For Old Razor Blades

There is one man at least who has solved the question that torments hundreds of families—what to do with used razor blades.

Moreover, he is prepared to take other people's old razor blades and use them for the general good! He is Mr. M. J. Harvey, borough surveyor at Hythe, England.

Mr. Harvey has hit on the ingenious idea of using safety razor blades to keep down the weeds in the Royal Military canal.

An official of Mr. Harvey's department said that scores of them are strung on end to a long wire, which is weighted with lead.

A workman on each side of the canal then drags the contraption through the water and—good-by, weeds! The device has been found so effective that there is hardly a weed in the canal and the old method of cutting them from a barge has been dispensed with.

Library Is Popular

People in English Cotton Town Are Great Readers

Great Harwood, the cotton town near Blackburn, England, claims the distinction of being the best read town in the country.

Of its 12,787 inhabitants, more than 6,000 are registered readers of the local branch of the county library.

Membership has increased weekly since the library was opened about three years ago, and so great is the demand on its service that the question has arisen whether to increase the premises.

It is common to see a queue of borrowers waiting outside the library doors.

It is only a small wooden building and people have to take their turns in selecting the books they want.

During the last twelve months 100,000 books were issued.

In two years, records of Oregon state penitentiary show that out of 987 new prisoners 44 were college graduates, 263 had high school educations, 613 had common school educations, and only 23 were illiterate.

The estimated consumption of creamy butter in Canada for April 1934 was 15,742,476 pounds, showing an increase of 682,235 pounds, or 4.6 per cent, on April 1933.

Numbers of ducks and chickens were reported to have died last year in two localities in Middlesex county, Ontario, as a result of eating rose chafers.

A "Railroad Zeppelin"

Shows Speed On Trial Run From Berlin To Cologne

A record railroad run of 380 miles in four hours nineteen minutes—giving an average of more than 90 m.p.h. over the whole distance, including two stops—was achieved by a Diesel-engined "railroad Zepp" on a trial run from Berlin to Cologne.

A maximum speed of more than 110 m.p.h. was attained.

It is intended next year to open a regular service between Berlin and Cologne, the schedule for the distance being four hours, as compared with seven hours taken by the fastest steam train.

A "railroad Zepp" service to Hamburg has been in operation some months, the time for the 195-mile journey being two hours twenty minutes.

Boat Driven By Car

Idea Being Tried Out On Thames

In England a strange craft was seen undergoing trials on the Thames recently at Putney, England. It consisted of a large, flat-bottomed punt containing a four-wheeled motor car with a 12 h.p. engine, from which the punt derives its motive power.

Paddles are fixed to the rear wheels of the car, which are jacked up off the bottom of the punt, and these wheels, set revolving with the running of the car engine, cause the paddles to cleave the water. The motorist has only to drive his car on to the punt and couple up.

Religion And Science

Sir Charles Saunders Says One Is Complementary To The Other

The dispute between religion and science is "humbug" in the opinion of Sir Charles Saunders, former Dominion cerealist and discoverer of several varieties of wheat, including Marquis.

In his first address since he was knighted by the King's birthday honours list, Sir Charles at Toronto told the Loyal Knights of Ye Round Table, of which he is honorary knight: "There cannot be any conflict between religion and science. Religion theorizes about the deity and science studies his works."

Provided each keeps to its own work, they are complementary and supplementary to each other."

He added: "All this dispute between the church and science is humbug. There is no need for it unless the church says something it has no business to say, as in the case of Darwin, or science says something about God who has not yet been a subject for study by science."

Sir Charles was speaking before the annual dinner of the Knights.

To Increase Vision

Optical Device May Be Great Aid To The Near Blind

Announcement of what he termed the "microscope spectacle", an optical device to increase vision called by 250 per cent, and employing a "new principle" in optical science, magnifying the vision of the partially blind beyond that of any other known device, was made at Toronto by Dr. William Feinbloom, of New York, before the international congress of the American Optometric Association.

Dr. Feinbloom said he had been working for nine years on the problem of achieving this maximum magnification of vision for the near blind in a convenient form that could be worn like ordinary spectacles.

TURNIPS AND CARROTS

1 cup cold boiled carrots
1 cup cold boiled turnips
1 cup medium white sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Salt and pepper
Buttered toast
Cut the vegetables in cubes. Add the white sauce, sugar, and lemon juice. Season with salt and pepper. When thoroughly heated, serve on toast, garnished with parsley.

UNBAKED BROWNIES

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 1/2 cups (one can) sweetened condensed milk
2 cups (1/2 pound) vanilla wafer crumbs
1 cup finely chopped walnut meats
Melt the chocolate in a double boiler. Add the sweetened condensed milk, stirring over boiling water five minutes until the mixture thickens. Add vanilla wafer crumbs and 1/2 cup finely-chopped nut meats. Butter a shallow pan and sprinkle with 1/4 cup nut meats. Place chocolate mixture in pan and spread evenly using a knife dipped in hot water. Sprinkle the top with the remaining 1/4 cup chopped nuts. Place in refrigerator several hours or overnight. To serve, cut in squares. Makes 18. (Graham crackers may be used in place of vanilla wafers).

Was Too Proficient

The resident secretary in a provincial town of one of the big insurance companies was entertaining his general manager one day and suggested a game of golf, which offer was accepted. It so happened that the secretary was in unusually good form and the game ended at the twelfth hole. The manager was rather annoyed at being so heartily beaten, and he inquired acridly as he picked his ball off the green, "Tell me, Mr. Blank, what do you do in addition to golf?"

ELIJAH HEARS GOD'S VOICE

Golden text: "Speak, Lord, for Thy servant heareth." 1. Samuel 3:9. Lesson: 1. Kings 19:9-21. Devotional reading: Psalm 57:1-5.

Explanations And Comments

Elijah's Lament at Horeb, verses 9, 10. A week ago we left Elijah on his way to Horeb. Now he has reached his destination and we are told about his experiences there. He lodged in a cave, and the word of Jehovah came to him. And just as we learned by means of a vividly told dialogue between Jesus and Satan through what struggles of mind Jesus passed, so here in the Old Testament by a similar method, a dialogue between God and Elijah, we are given a glimpse of what passed in the depths of the prophet's mind.

"Elijah had been the chief actor in a stirring drama, but away from the footlights he had to find his bearings in a new situation. In retreat from the wrath of Jezabel he was overtaken by such a doubt as vexed the soul of Hamlet. 'The world is out of joint. O cursed spite that ever I was born to see it right!' But, unlike Hamlet, the prophet had a refuge. He found his 'way to Horeb, that sanctuary of nature nurtured by clouds, that temple of Jehovah not made with hands. And there he sought to wrestle things out in the presence of God and to find a policy in accordance with the divine will."

"What dread thou here?" was the word to Elijah. Did it mean that Elijah had come to Horeb because there Moses had communed with God, and he should have known that he could meet God anywhere?

"So Cure of Despondency, verses 15-18. God recommissioned Elijah. The post he had thought to lay down still awaited him. He must leave the refuge of the cave and get to work. He was not at the end of life; there was more for him to do. There were new leaders to be made and anointed for the work. On the way to Damascus there was Hazael (now a general of Benhadad) to be anointed king over Syria, and Jehu (an officer in Ahab's army) to be anointed king over Israel, and Elijah to be anointed as prophet to take the place of Elijah himself."

Little Journeys In Science

THE LIVING CELL

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

To Robert Hooke, an English botanist, goes the credit for the discovery of the cell. It was about the middle of the seventeenth century that this scientist, while examining a piece of cork under the newly discovered microscope, observed that it was made up of a number of alveoli to which he gave the name of "cells". Other scientists continued to study these cells but it was not until one hundred and fifty years later that Brown and Dujardin commenced to study the contents of these cells.

These scientists saw them as an agglomeration of very small bags, which were independent of each other and contained a substance which they called "protoplasm". Protoplasm possesses the property of changing the materials received from the blood stream, oxygen and food, into living matter. How this change is brought about is still a mystery. All that science knows is that water and bread, for example, contain the same atoms as the deadliest of poisons. Food causes the cells of living organisms to grow and increase in number, whereas poisons bring about their destruction.

When examined under the microscope the cells seem to consist of a nucleus suspended in the protoplasm, the latter being a more or less viscous translucent material. The whole cell is held together by a protective membrane which is similar to the protoplasm in nature. In certain organisms, however, we sometimes find that this membrane is missing and that the cells are simply drops of liquid without any protective coating. In these cells are found traces of carbon, oxygen, nitrogen, hydrogen, sulphur, phosphorus, nickel, zinc, arsenic, iodine, even titanium, vanadium and molybdenum—perhaps gold. Because who can say with assurance what elements exactly enter into the construction of a living cell.

Science has discovered very little as yet about the nature of protoplasm, because no sooner does the men of science attempt to analyze it than it ceases to function. Examination of dead protoplasm gives no further clue to the phenomenon called life.

Scientists cannot agree on the number of cells of an adult human being. Some say a billion billions, others estimate it at only sixty billions.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By

EDNA ROSS WEBSTER
Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl," Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor, trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla, his adopted daughter of a wealthy family, she is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is to inherit money; Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. After a party at an exclusive club, where the rest of the story takes place, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves, see the statue on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near Camilla. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Peter urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and Camilla suggests "Rager Youth" and Avis "Inspiration". Peter adopts the latter title and Camilla, heartbroken, goes to Peter's studio for quiet and to think. Peter and Avis follow later, and as the lights are turned on, the statue has been shattered to pieces. Avis accuses Camilla of doing this, and Camilla, stunned by the accusation, faints and horrified by the accusation, faints.

At Camilla's suggestion, Peter enters as his exhibit a statue he has sculptured especially for her as a wedding gift. They named it "Land of Hope".

Camilla's advertising campaign was a success from the beginning, and she was arranged to have radio broadcasts, in addition to newspaper advertising, Camilla to both write the Tiny Tots stories and to deliver them over the radio.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER LII

It was arranged that the author of the Tiny Tots and the broadcaster of their escapades would remain anonymous until her radio debut, when she would be introduced to the public by her sponsor, the president of the Wheatbelt Cereal corporation. What the interested public did not know was that her identity was not even known to her indirect employer, Alexander Hoyt. Though desirous of meeting this mysterious individual who had so turned the tide of his fortunes, Hoyt was not impatient, and resignedly agreed to wait with his public for an introduction.

In fact, the affair rather pleased his fancy, added a dash of spice to his prosaic routine, which had been somewhat depressing during the past year.

This rejuvenation of his business was like an elixir of life to him; it stimulated his imagination and ambition as they never had been in his experience. Like all things that are precious, he had almost to lose his business, his pride, his ambition, before he discovered how much he valued them. And as the day drew nearer when he would meet and introduce this mythical creator of the Tiny Tots to his fast-growing consuming public, he found himself almost as excited and excited as a young man approaching his wedding day.

But before that event took place another important day added its quota of excitement to Camilla's series of startling events.

She had not seen Avis since the evening of the party at the studio, when the statue was destroyed. They had avoided each other by mutual consent, and neither had discussed the other with Peter, who was seeing both of them regularly.

He had gone to the Werth's to tea as Avis had arranged, played the part of the artistic critic and professional adviser with admirable charm and success. He discovered the possibility of no less than three pieces for the gardens, which were spacious and beautifully landscaped. The rose garden needed a fountain figure, the rock garden a droll woodland man, and the English formal garden presented an idea for a symbolic group of the seasons, done in white marble.

Mrs. Werth was favorably impressed and remarked when he had gone, "So that's the fellow with whom Camilla Hoyt managed a secret marriage?" He began to understand why her heart on Peter Anson, approved and accepted him. Charming, gay, and I've no doubt he has talent. His quiet modesty is most becoming. Why don't you get interested in someone like that? A girl with your experience could do better for an ambitious man. I could thoroughly approve a son-in-law like that."

"Give me time, mother," Avis shrugged. "Men like Peter are not picked up at every tea dance and golf tournament. They are exclusive and secluded, tolling away in solitary or waiting tables in restaurants. If I flirted with a promising waiter, you would be perfectly horrified."

"Don't be ridiculous," her mother admonished. "As for going to the studio, you forget that you're twenty-four and haven't given me even the privilege of announcing an engagement."

"You needn't remind me of it. But the wisdom and experience of three or four extra years may be more profitable in the end than too much youth and beauty."

"You mean Peter Anson and Camilla?" her mother glanced up to ask quickly.

Avis exhaled cigarette smoke slowly and swung the foot of a crossed leg, nonchalantly. Their marriage was destined to fall from the beginning. They are estranged, already, and never have lived together. I may as well be prepared to console him as anyone. I dare say that he is rather fond of me."

Mrs. Werth struggled with her generation scruples which swayed precariously into the realm of modern conventions. "Well, I can't say that I approve of your generation's way of doing these things, but you know more about your affairs than I do. I still maintain that this Peter is a man worth playing for with diligence. Perhaps this work which he plans to do for me will influence his favor."

"Why else would you suppose that I am so concerned about the garden?" Avis laughed with amusement. "Twenty years ago," her mother reflected, "I should have been horrified to think of my daughter deliberately planning to take another woman's husband, even if that woman didn't want him. I'm not wholly converted to the idea yet, but if that is your way of doing things, I don't suppose my prejudices or anything else can stop you."

"Nothing is going to stop me," Avis declared to her mother, crushing out her cigarette in a tray with a silver staff ornament. She stood up abruptly and straightened the soft mesh folds of a brilliant orange sport suit that displayed her figure to advantage. Always, her clothes emphasized this most attractive feature of her person, whether she were dressed for evening, afternoon, or lounged in diaphane. She wore long, very fitted sleeves or none at all, clinging materials, full drapes, velvet tailored modes for sports and street. Small, untrimmed felt hats, or berets at a jaunty angle, covered her sleek dark hair and accented her vivid make-up to the advantage of her plain but clear-cut features. Without being beautiful, she was stunning woman. Having nothing else to occupy her time and thought, she had specialized in herself.

"I wish these next twenty-four hours were past," she observed impatiently. "I should like to know just how to arrange my hair, and I depend upon the Paris scholarship award. I really don't hope that Peter will have a chance to win, but it will be a tremendous satisfaction to have it all settled. Tomorrow is the day, and I suppose there is nothing to do except wait. I think I'll run out and see Catie to pass the time. I hear that she is seen about with Terry much these days. Wouldn't it be funny if those two, after playing around with everyone both of them know, would get together?"

"I think it would be a good thing for both of them," was Mrs. Werth's opinion. "Their experiences balance very well and their pasts would be no mysteries to each other."

"It sounds too placid to interest me, but Catie hasn't a spark of imagination in her empty little head. All she needs is a man who can deposit the money to cash her checks, and I guess Terry always can do that unless his dad loses his fortune. By the way, mother, I need another thousand to cover some investments I made recently. Will you tell dad to credit me with another four or five thousand?"

"To some people, life and extravagance are as simple as that; to others, existence and sustenance are one continual struggle. There are those who give and those who take, those who live life and those who accept it. Avis was one of the latter and always would be. Had she not been secure by her own rights of inheritance, she never would have married, why her heart on Peter Anson."

Rather than battle with the world for a living as Camilla was doing, she would have put love and illusion in the discard, even without a reluctant glance over her shoulder, and pursued a tangible fortune. Being allured by her own dream, her life had settled upon a forbidden level. What she would do with him when she got him, she was not quite sure; but Peter represented to Avis the unattainable, the goal of achievement which every man and woman has in some form or other.

Avis found Catie unusually reticent about Terry. It was customary for her to talk volubly about her current "big moment," but she only observed casually when Avis mentioned her recent friendliness with Terry, and when they were going around places together. Why shouldn't we? We always have, when we had no one else more important on our waiting list. Terry's a good sort, but as lazy as you are."

"I—lazy?" Avis queried in astonishment. "Why, I'm busy every minute."

"And how?" Catie laughed. "But what I want to know is, how did the Ansons straighten out the tangle?"

Was it Camilla who broke the status?"

"Who else could have?" Avis questioned was an undebatable statement.

"Well, aren't you a little ashamed of yourself for driving her to such desperation over your flirtation with poor Peter?"

"It serves her right for dragging him into that absurd marriage, and neither of them a dollar to their names. I could make Peter what he wants to be."

"Only by breaking him first—breaking his ideals about love and marriage. And I don't think you would have much left to work on, if you did that to Peter."

"And that from our most noted playgirl?" Avis exclaimed in mock surprise. "What has Terry been doing to you, anyway?"

"You'd be surprised!" she retorted. "No, darling, not at anything you did." Avis saw a place to trade a straight lie.

Back To Nature

Believes Unemployed Should Leave Cities And Go On The Land

Canadians have been too premature in their attempt to urbanize a country, still at the beginning of its development, D.D. Rev. Robert Henshaw, D.D., rector of St. Paul's church, Toronto, told reporters as he sailed for England aboard the liner Aswan.

The real solution to the hunger of thousands of persons in this country, he believes, is to get back to nature and the soil.

Dr. Henshaw was born in Ireland and educated in Toronto. For 14 years he was a missionary in the Hudson Bay area. In 1926 he became dean of the cathedral in Vancouver and later bishop of Athabasca for a one-year period.

Ancient Con-Tongs

An iron coil tongs, thought to be the one used 200 years ago by David Zeisberger, founder of Schoenbrunn, first white village in Ohio, near present Philadelphia, was found recently by Harry Clever, pilot at a Schoenbrunn flying field, when workmen were grading the ground.

Always Grumbling

A farmer, who was in the habit of grumbling about most things, was heard to say that his potatoes were very big that year. "Well," said his neighbor, "I'm glad you are pleased with the size of your potatoes."

"Yes," said the farmer; "but what shall I do without the small ones for the pigs?"

Has Queer Occupation

Man In England Sells Bee's Stings For Rheumatism

Britain's queerest salesman is George Aloysius Storey. He peddles pain.

All spring and summer he wanders through the small villages and hamlets, carrying on his back a large black box which emits a loud buzzing.

The box contains bees, whose main duty is to sting his rheumatic clients, and he finds plenty of people willing to offer an arm or leg to a bad-tempered bee.

A reporter found Mr. Storey walking along a road between Swinford and Catterhoe, in Leicestershire. His box hummed rhythmically to his stride.

"The faith in bee-stings as a remedy for rheumatism and neuritis is unshaken among most of Britain's villagers," he said. "I have only to arrive in the smallest hamlet to find plenty of customers. I prepare a small place on the victim's arm or leg with antiseptic, and place the bee in a tiny wire cage on the spot. Then I tickle the bee with a straw till it becomes really angry, and stings itself in self-defence. Naturally, I have to keep renewing my stock of bees, and I get these from my brother-in-law, who has hives near Durham."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THREE A.M.

The waning moon from tilted cup
Spills nectar, rising now;
And musing bird, by that white
Is stirred like wind-tossed bough.

O, wild and strange his poignant notes
Which on the night embark,
A spray of liquid silver sound
To shine against the dark.

Far moon, so passionless, so cold,
How can your rays inspire
Such surging melodies of pain,
Such mounting love and fire?

The waning moon looks down where
Whirls locked, hidden in sleep;
But her one worshiper sings still
Across the night, the deep.

Just A Fek Questions

Matter Of Paying War Debts Has Many Angles

Yes, Europe "thired the money, didn't they?" But Americans, before asking Europe to pay up, should ask themselves whether they want Europe to pay. And before that they should ask themselves whether they are allowing their emotions or their good business sense to decide their answer. And before that they "could ask themselves whether the Americans need more money or whether they need more work to offer its citizens; whether it needs more goods (payment in kind) or more chances to sell its already abundant goods. And before that they should ask themselves whether a debtor can be expected to buy more goods while he is paying up old debts—Christian Science Monitor.

Africa Growing Reward Wheat

A few grains of reward wheat taken some years ago to Southern Rhodesia by Lionel Grips have developed under Rhodesian conditions into a crop containing a very high protein content. The fame of the new wheat is such that samples are wanted all over Africa, largely because of its rust-resisting quality. Moreover, Southern Rhodesia will now be able to grow all her own requirements instead of having to import foreign wheat for mixing.

Canada Benefits By World's Greatest Shipping Merger

Canard White Star Limited Steeped In Romance Of The Sea

With the organization of Canard White Star Limited, the Atlantic passenger fleets of the Cunard Line and White Star Lines comprising 25 ships and the steamer of 27,000 tons which will be launched on the Clyde in September, are united under one management. But just as the identity of each line is preserved in the name, the traditions of the Lines whose collective experience in the handling of ships covers a period of 155 years will carry on.

This unique experience gained in the romantic days of sailing ships, broadened by the less romantic but more practical development of steel ship and steam engines, has reached its culmination in the gradual but wonderful evolution of the huge, magnificent luxury liners carrying the house flags of the Cunard and White Star Lines today.

Who can hear the names of the Mauretania, the Berengaria, the Aquitania mentioned—and fall to place them among the "immortals" of the Cunard Line, founded in 1840 by Samuel Cunard of Halifax and Gloucester, the service of humanity and Canada? Or could one fail to respond to the appeal of the Olympic, the Mauretania, the White Star ships so widely known on the seven seas?

For so long have the parts of the world welcomed Cunard and White Star ships, for so many millions of travellers have they provided the "swiftest taste of life abroad," it is to be wondered at that these ships have managed to co-exist with, and that their services have become a tradition for all that is best and most worthy.

The history of Canada is inseparably woven with the history of Canard White Star. It is vision and courage of a Canadian, Samuel Cunard, that a regular mail and passenger service was made possible between Great Britain and Canada and that steamships supplanted sail on the North Atlantic. It was his drive, vision and genius that built the B.S. Britannia and sent her off from Liverpool on July 4th, 1840.

That first epic voyage was the first segment of Her Majesty's Royal Mail, and he guaranteed that thereafter mail and passengers would be conveyed regularly winter and summer by the steamships of his line. That first epic voyage was completely successful was due to Samuel Cunard's organizing genius, for the B.S. Britannia, the first of a line of 1,150 gross tons made the voyage in thirteen and one-half days. And now, at this first epic voyage later, there is being built for the Canard White Star Limited the largest and most beautiful of the world's liners, No. 53, of 75,000 tons and more than 1,000 feet long; a dream ship that even Samuel Cunard could never have imagined.

Trade has followed the house flags of Canard White Star, and Canada's wheat producers, farmers and manufacturers have found for their products a solid market in the markets of the world, aided in their quest by the shipping facilities provided so judiciously, reliably and regularly by these companies.

The growth of Canada and the increasing affluence of her people have been met by the continuously improved service given by both Cunard and White Star. Always pioneers, the ships built by these companies for the Canadian trade have invariably embodied the newest development in steamship construction and have provided the greatest possible degree of luxurious comfort, beauty, seaworthiness and steadiness, and as heretofore, Canard White Star Limited will maintain frequent and regular sailings to England, Scotland, Ireland and Continental ports.

Canadians are fortunate in possessing the most beautiful seaway to Europe. The magnificent river journey from Montreal to the sea, which is an actual ocean voyage by days, has been a feature of Cunard and White Star publicity for many years. It has done a tremendous service for Canada in making the greatness, wealth and beauty of this country known to the world. Canada's destiny as a great nation is evident, and the record of these companies would indicate that Canard and White Star Limited will march forward with it, providing for Canadians a transportation system that will meet every travel whim or need, and one that is worthy of the complete confidence which it enjoys today.

Proved His Identity

Dog Lost For Five Years Does Tricks For Master

The saying "tricks which never forget" seems to apply equally well to dogs at least as far as "Prince", collie dog owned by a man in Quincy, Mass., is concerned.

"Prince" disappeared from home five years ago. He returned the next day to the family home, scratched on the door for admittance, and just to prove his identity beyond a doubt, performed a series of tricks which his master had taught him when a puppy.

A Sticky Story

Here's a sticky story from Liverpool: A 40-gallon barrel of treacle burst and flooded the roadway. Five lorries struck fast. Cyclists pedalled furiously and made no headway. Three motorists struggled onward leaving their shoes behind them, and an office-boy fell headlong. Crows cheered as he staggered from his treacle bath.

Little Helps For This Week

"It is good for me that I have been afflicted, that I might learn Thy statutes."—Psalm 119:71.

And yet these days of dreariness are sent us from above. They do not come in anger. But in faithfulness and love; They come to teach us lessons Which bright ones could not yield, And to leave us blest and thankful, When their purpose is fulfilled.

Why should I rebel at the plough of my Lord that mareth deep furrows on my soul. I know He is no idle husbandman. He prepareth a crop.—S. Rutherford.

Heed—not distressing thoughts when they rise ever so strongly, even though they have entered your mind far from that. But be still awhile and do not believe the power you feel they have over you, and they will fall all of a sudden. It is good for your spirit, and greatly to your advantage; to be much and variously exercised by this Lord. You do not know what He has already done, and what He is yet doing for you therein.—I. Pennington.

Tesla Tells Of Force Rays

Can Be Set Like A Wall Around A Nation's Borders

Nikola Tesla, the inventor, celebrating his 78th birthday anniversary, declared he has discovered force rays which can be set like a wall around a nation's borders to render it impenetrable to military attack. He said he plans to place his inventions at the disposal of the Geneva conference in the interests of peace.

The new rays, he said, would be made of particles, probably dust of some sort, microscopically fine, driven electrically and projected in the form of vast curtains miles high and 100 miles each in length. The particles would travel with the unheard-of velocities of 50,000,000 volts. He said he had projected his inventions at the disposal of the Geneva conference in the interests of peace.

The dust beams would travel in straight lines.

What Scotsman Wastes

One Thing He Does Not Save On

Is Water

What is the only thing that Scotsmen ever waste? According to Mr. Chorlton, president of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers, the answer is water! Figures of water consumption in the British Isles, which Mr. Chorlton quoted at a recent Public Works Congress, show that Dunblane, in Perthshire, uses, on an average, 130 gallons of water a day per head of population. This is "top score," but Irvine, in Ayrshire, using 81½ gallons, Bridge of Allan, 85½ gallons, and Paisley 81 gallons all get through a great deal more water than London, where the Metropolitan Water Board's figure is just under 39 gallons per head. And there are places in England where only twelve and fifteen gallons are used.

At Creston, B.C., an air-cooled, electrically operated cold storage with a capacity for three carloads has been installed for the Co-operative Fruit Exchange of that town.

Newfoundland supplied the United States with $200,000 worth of blueberries in the last six years.

Disappointed at not being able to have his order filled, he departed, stating that it will be forty years before he will call in again.

Evidence that the Scotch at some period must have predominated in Canada was secured by a party of alpinists who during the past week scaled to the summit of the Crows' Nest Mountain. There they located what has since been proven to be nothing less than the famous bell heather, which was growing in a vale 7,500 feet up. A sample of the same can be seen at the local R.C.M.P. barracks. Well, there's proof anyway that the Scotch must at some time have been quite a hunky race—otherwise, how could they ever have climbed Crows' Nest?
